

“Hey, now, what's that sound? Everybody look what's going down.” — Buffalo Springfield

Knowledge is Power

They say that “Knowledge is Power,” which means that as citizens we need to know what is going on and what it means for us and our families. When our financial future is at stake, 30-second sound-bytes from corporate PR flacks and government spin-masters won’t cut it. And rants from radio shock-jocks pushing partisan agendas are designed to confuse us, not inform us.
